play the game,

do the quiz.

The screenshot shows the BBC Bitesize website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'Bitesize' in a red box and links for 'Home', 'Learn & revise', 'Support', and 'Careers'. Below that, it says 'KS1' and 'How to use their, they're and there' with a sub-heading 'Part of English | Homophones'. There's a red button that says 'Add to My Bitesize'. The main content area features a video player with a play button and a cartoon character. Below the video, there's a section titled 'Their, they're or there' with a paragraph explaining the difference and three example sentences. Underneath is a 'Fill in the gaps' game with a dropdown menu showing 'their, they're or there' and a checkmark. Below the game is a 'Quiz' section with a question 'The their, they're and there quiz!' and a 'Play' button. At the bottom, there's a section 'There's more to learn...' with four small thumbnail images and links for 'What are homophones?', 'How to use their, they're and there', 'How to use to, too and two', and 'What are prefixes?'.

Keep your home learning book out so you can use it to help you.
